

Greenhill Newsletter

Why not integrate maths into your everyday life by planning to do some cooking or baking with your children. They could practise their measuring skills by weighing out ingredients, practise doubling and halving recipes and practise telling time.

Why don't you try...

Greenhill News

This week the children used the word of the week remembrance during our assembly on Remembrances Day. The children predicted what the different colours of the Poppy symbolised. Red for blood, black for sorrow and green for hope. They all showed their respect for soldiers who have fought for their countries.

A gentle reminder to please take care when coming through our school gate- it does move slowly but please refrain from pushing it open as this breaks the mechanism.

We have lots of events coming up soon, please see our list of events at the end of the newsletter.
