

Greenhill Newsletter

Singing nursery rhymes with your child helps them learn important reading skills. Sing and clap along to the rhythm, or make up new rhymes together. This fun activity helps with listening, memory, and language!

Why don't you try...

Greenhill News

This week, our pupils have been learning about respect. We explored a story on how to show respect to themselves and their peers. A highlight was creating our "Respect Tree," where each child added a leaf with their thoughts on respect. This project allowed them to express their understanding creatively and see the collective impact of their actions.

The Respect Tree will serve as a reminder of our values. Respect is a fundamental principle that fosters positive relationships and a harmonious environment. It teaches children to value others' feelings, opinions, and rights, promoting empathy and kindness. By practicing respect, our pupils learn to appreciate diversity, resolve conflicts peacefully, and build a supportive community.

Reminders - There is an Eid and Easter poetry competition. £1 to enter with fantastic prizes.
