

Be an Expert Learner

I had learnt some facts about Tutankhamun at home so my team added them to our poster.

I still remember that day. It was so interesting.

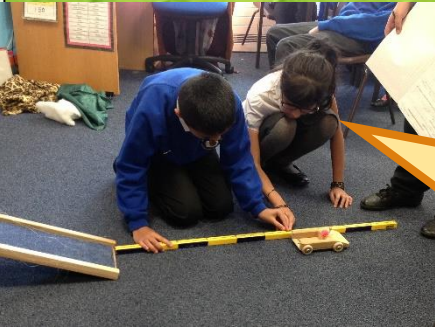

By working as team, sharing ideas and listening to each other we learn more. In our Co-operative Learning groups we present learning in our own way, being creative and learning team work skills.

Creative

Visits and visitors bring learning to life and make us 'Expert Learners'. These are the lessons we remember the most.

Co-operative

We experimented to find out which surface would make the car go the furthest.

We become experts when we are doing things ourselves. Practical, hands-on lessons are our favourite way to learn.
